1 Overview and Reading Aid

The material in this document is based on the field versions and programming templates, which have been extended by variable names and values. The variable names used in these generated version are the same as those found in the data files. The field version can be found in the document “Startkohorte 1: Neugeborene (SC1), Welle 11, Erhebungsinstrumente (Feldversion)” (only available in German). For working with the data, it is recommended to use this SUF version of the survey instruments over the field version. The material corresponds to version 11.0.0 of the Scientific Use File (SUF) for the Starting Cohort 1 (SC1) (doi:10.5157/NEPS:SC1:11.0.0). Figure 1 describes the possible components of the documented survey.

If available, this information includes the following:

1. Questions (bold): Text, which is a) handed out in the form of PAPI or online surveys and b) read out during CATI or CAPI surveys by an interviewer (sometimes with variations depending on specific conditions).
2. Question numbers in the survey tool (bold)
3. Instructions (italic, shaded in yellow) are considered as a) guidelines for PAPI or online surveys and b) instructions for the interviewer for CATI or CAPI surveys, in order to ask the questions in a correct way and react appropriately to inquiries. These are not read out by the interviewer.
4. Values labels
5. Missing values (italic)
6. Output filters (italic)

7. Automatic values (italic): Under certain conditions, these are necessary, e.g. when coding auxiliary variables.
8. Variables
  - a) Variable name in SUF-data set (variable names indicated in brackets are not part of the SUF)
  - b) Variable label: This is a short form of the description of the item.
  - c) Data set, in which the variable(s) can be found.

Figure 2 provides an overview of the field time of the eleventh main survey. The survey was conducted between April and November 2022 using computer-assisted personal interviews (CAPI) and telephone interviews (CAPI-by-Phone) with parents as well as online interviews with partners. Furthermore, four competence tests (Reading Speed, Text comprehension, Number puzzles and Signs puzzles) were conducted with the children using technology-based testing (TBT) and a self-administered survey of the children (CASI) was conducted on a tablet PC. If no visit to the household was possible or wished, neither the competence tests nor the child survey could be carried out. Unlike in the previous wave, no alternative online mode was provided for the child survey in the B155 sub-study.

In order to ensure the continuity of this particular study in the future, we would like to ask you today for permission to transfer your address and contact data to the Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories. Address and contact data are first and last names as well as home addresses, telephone numbers, and e-mail addresses that you have provided to us. The following also applies to the Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories: Your data will be stored in a secure environment and used in the same way as by infas to contact you. Your consent to the transfer is, of course, voluntary. You can withdraw your consent at any time. You will find the contact details in the cover letter you received in advance. Do you agree that your address and contact data can be transmitted to the Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories?

<<In case of questions regarding data protection: "The information from the data protection sheet you have already received continues to apply. For the time being, your address and contact data will remain with infas. You will be informed again for transmission." 32711 In order to understand educational and life trajectories even better, we would like to make scientific use of your address and contact data. We would like to use this data, for example, to analyze whether people are willing to travel longer distances for their vocational training or further education. For this purpose, your addresses are converted into geocoordinates in order to calculate distances. From the first names, for example, we can see whether there are also clusters of people with the same first name in certain occupational groups. The information resulting from this data cannot be used to draw any conclusions about your person. The address and contact data will not be passed on to third parties. Your consent to scientific use is, of course, voluntary. You can withdraw your consent at any time. You can find the contact details for this in the cover letter you received in advance. Do you agree to your address and contact data being used for scientific purposes?

In case of questions regarding data protection: "The information from the data protection sheet you have already received still applies. For the time being, your address and contact data will remain with infas. You will be informed again in the course of the transmission." For questions about withdrawal: "Dr. Angela Prussog-Wagner from infas will be happy to answer any questions you may have at the free of charge phone number 0800/664 7436 during normal office hours." For the question "What is a geocoordinate?": "A geocoordinate consists of two numbers, a longitude and a latitude, and thus describes a geographical point on a map. For example, the geocoordinate of the Brandenburg Gate is approximately 53 degrees north latitude and 13 degrees east longitude." For question "What could be studied with contact data?"
